Letter from the President

Congratulations, graduates! On behalf of George Mason University, I extend a warm spring Commencement welcome to you and all who have gathered here today to share in your accomplishment.

The George Mason faculty and staff who educated, challenged, and supported you are tremendously proud of what you have achieved. I am, too. We are all excited to see what you will accomplish as leaders in your professions and in your communities.

The value of a George Mason degree has never been greater. The Wall Street Journal ranks George Mason as the No. 30 public university in the country, and top in the Commonwealth of Virginia for value and upward mobility. U.S. News & World Report ranks George Mason as the top public university in the state for innovation, upward mobility, and internships.

Of course, we know that our most meaningful measure of success is our graduates. And that's great news for Virginia. About three in four in-state George Mason graduates choose to launch their careers in the commonwealth, as do almost one in three graduates who come to George Mason from outside Virginia. That's a testament to the bountiful career opportunities in our region and state and George Mason's partnerships with employers in industry, government, and nongovernmental organizations.

As the largest producer of talent in Virginia, including in growing industries such as artificial intelligence and public health, George Mason is a major reason why CNBC ranks our state as top in the country for business and education.

You've also experienced a dynamic university community of students, faculty, and staff from a wide range of cultures, circumstances, and ideologies. Offering access to such experiences is part of what makes George Mason All Together Different and helps prepare our graduates for success no matter where their life journeys take them.

We hope that earning your degree here, and joining a George Mason alumni network of a quarter million graduates, is just the beginning of your lifelong engagement with the university. Your time, mentorship, and support will benefit the next generation of George Mason students who aspire to achieve the milestone that we celebrate here today with the Class of 2025.

Once again, congratulations, graduates! Go, Patriots!

Gregory Washington

President, George Mason University

Robert E. Buchanan

Former Principal, Buchanan
Partners Corporation

Now retired, Robert Buchanan was a third-generation builder and developer involved in office, retail, industrial, residential, and large mixed-use planned communities. He was a principal of Buchanan Partners, a full-service real estate development company. Buchanan was also president of the 2030 Group, an association of Washington, D.C., metropolitan area business leaders focused on regional long-term solutions. He served on the George Mason University Foundation Board of Trustees from 2007 to 2016. From 2015 to 2019, Buchanan was the first chair of the Montgomery County Economic Development Corporation.

Buchanan is currently a member of the Shady Grove Medical Center Governing Board, a member of the Federal City Council Leadership Committee, and is a founding member of the MetroNow coalition. Buchanan serves on the George Mason University President's Cabinet and was a founding member of Montgomery Moving Forward. Buchanan was the Washington Airports Task Force 2021 recipient of the Williams Trophy, recognizing his leadership for regional cooperation. In 2018, Buchanan was honored with the prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award from the Urban Land Institute (ULI). ULI Washington established the Lifetime Achievement Award to recognize a leader from the Washington, D.C., real estate community whose life exemplifies the mission of ULI and who, in addition to a lifetime of commitment to real estate, has given back to the community through demonstrated civic, charitable, and philanthropic endeavors.

In 2017, and for several years now, Buchanan has been included in the Power 100 List of the region's most influential business leaders. He was also selected as the 2017 Regional Leader Honoree by Leadership Fairfax in the Northern Virginia Leadership Awards. In addition to these awards, Buchanan received the 2015 Arts Patron of the Year Award, Montgomery County's prestigious County Executive's Award for Excellence in the Arts and Humanities, and the 2015 Signatures of Loudoun Vision in Design Excellence Award. Buchanan was saluted as the 2024 Montgomery County Philanthropist of the Year by the Greater Washington Community Foundation. Through a profile in Bethesda Magazine and salute at The Community Foundation's annual celebration, Buchanan's story served to educate countless people on the needs of the local community and illustrates the profound impact each person can have by investing time, talent, and treasure in worthy organizations. Buchanan earned a bachelor of arts degree from Yale University.

Carolyn Peterson

Carolyn Peterson is originally from Massachusetts and became a resident of Fairfax County in 1958. Peterson has been a long-time member of the Inova Health Foundation Board. She was also the founding chair and a board member of Life with Cancer for more than 30 years. Peterson became involved with George Mason University in its early years as a university—when its campus was one building and there were 800 students.

Peterson has a passion for the arts and serves as the co-chair of the sponsorship committee on the ARTS by George! Steering Committee and served on the Mason Arts Board for many years. She hosts an annual concert where vocal studies Professor Patricia Miller showcases the amazing talents of her students. Peterson has also served on the George Mason University Foundation Board of Trustees.

Peterson has been a member of Fairfax United Methodist Church since 1961 and has supported the church in many capacities, from serving on the administrative board to serving as a trustee. She has also been in the church choir for more than 50 years.

She and her husband Milt have been supportive of just about every major charity and public service in Northern Virginia. The Peterson Family Foundation—parents, four children, and 10 grandchildren—believe that investing in the communities where they live will help bring long-lasting benefits to the county and the commonwealth.

Albert Dwoskin

Founder and CEO, A.J. Dwoskin
and Associates

Albert Dwoskin was born and raised in Omaha, Nebraska. He relocated to the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area in January 1964. He now resides in McLean, Virginia, and is the proud father of Alanna Claire and Albert Jay Dwoskin.

Dwoskin entered the real estate business soon after arriving in Northern Virginia. He moved to Fairfax County in 1966, which was fortuitous timing. The area was just beginning to evolve into the dynamic region it has now become. Although Northern Virginia is home to a number of strong industries, real estate has done particularly well. A.J. Dwoskin and Associates has evolved into an enterprise that owns and operates neighborhood-serving retail shopping centers and residential rental housing.

Dwoskin has also made a concerted effort to invest time in his community. He has served on the George Mason University Foundation Board of Trustees, the Commonwealth of Virginia Treasury Board, the Virginia Economic Forecast Advisory Board, and as a member of the Fairfax City Economic Development Authority. He has also helped guide local organizations by serving as a director at the Securities Investor Protection Corporation, the YMCA of Metropolitan Washington, the Commonwealth of Virginia's Center for Innovative Technology, the Woodlawn Foundation, and the Metropolitan Washington Airports Authority. He also contributed to the Virginia Governor's Commission on Transportation in the 21st Century.

Through the Dwoskin Family Foundation, he and his family support educational and health care organizations throughout Virginia.

Martina Cheung

President and CEO, S&P Global

Martina Cheung is president, CEO, and a member of the Board of Directors of S&P Global. Previously, Cheung was president of S&P Global Ratings and served as the executive lead of S&P Global Sustainable¹. Prior to that, she was president of S&P Global Market Intelligence.

Cheung joined the company in 2010 as vice president of operations for S&P Global Ratings and went on to serve as S&P Global's chief strategy officer. She also was head of risk services for S&P Global Market Intelligence. Prior to joining S&P Global, Cheung worked for Accenture's Financial Services Strategy group and later as a partner at Mitchell Madison Consulting.

Barron's recognized Cheung as one of the 100 Most Influential Women in U.S. Finance in 2025. Cheung was named one of the Most Powerful Women in Finance by American Banker and included on the list of Influential Women in Institutional Investing by Pensions & Investments in 2024. Also in 2024, the global consultancy network INvolve named her to its 100 Empower Executives list for the second consecutive year. Cheung received the Merit Award from the Women's Bond Club in 2022.

Cheung is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and the Economic Club of New York.

Cheung serves on the Board of Trustees for Catholic Charities New York and was a member of the Board of CRISIL, a global analytics company and India's leading credit ratings agency.

She holds a bachelor's degree in commerce and a master's degree in business studies from National University of Ireland, Galway.

Duy Ha Vu

Bachelor of Science in Business;
Public Administration

Duy Ha Vu is an international student from Vietnam. He is graduating with a double major in public administration and business with a concentration in finance. He is completing his time at George Mason with a cumulative GPA of 3.93. At the Schar School of Policy and Government, where he has been working for about four years, he served as an office assistant and helped students and professors daily. As an undergraduate teaching assistant in the Costello College of Business, he held recitation classes where he supported many students academically through tailored instruction and one-on-one mentoring. In addition, Duy was also a research assistant to Professor Derek Horstmeyer and assisted him with articles for The Wall Street Journal, with the latest one being a publication on investment performance. Duy is also an analyst for the Montano Student Managed Investment Fund, overseeing a half-million-dollar equity portfolio. Duy secured third place in the Association of Latino Professionals for America (ALPFA) Stock Pitch Competition and represented George Mason University in the CFA Equity Research Challenge.

As the vice president of finance for Beta Theta Pi, Duy raised about $500 for Paws of Honor, a program that provides veterinary care to retired law enforcement dogs at no charge. As the treasurer for ALPFA, he helped set up networking events and build relationships with recruiters. As president of the Pool Club, he grew membership from a mere 5 to more than 70. During his term, Duy hosted various tournaments and facilitated billiards workshops, creating an environment for pool enthusiasts to network and enjoy. His own ability shone as he earned second-place finishes in the university's 8-Ball Tournament twice and a first-place finish in the Pool Club's 9-Ball Tournament. At a regional 9-Ball tournament against the University of Virginia, University of Maryland, and Virginia Tech, Duy led his team to a third-place finish in their debut performance, which brought recognition to George Mason's pool excellence.

George Mason University

Since its beginnings in 1957, George Mason University has experienced a steady transformation from regional commuter school to national powerhouse. George Mason's rise is no coincidence, but instead reflects an audacity to ask questions others haven't and to prioritize the evolving needs of our community over the status quo. More than a half century later, George Mason's reach extends across the commonwealth and into the global arena, with a diverse student body comprising students from all 50 states and 130 countries, a campus in South Korea, and world-renowned faculty and researchers dedicated to both focusing on complex problems and nurturing the next generation of thinkers and leaders.

Even as George Mason makes a greater impact on the region, nation, and globe, we never waver in our commitment to inclusivity and our belief that higher education should be accessible to all.

Guided by our motto of Freedom and Learning, George Mason strides into the future with a spirit of determination and grit, an acceptance of wide-ranging viewpoints and cultures, and a conviction to stand firm to our principles. In a rapidly changing world of increasing complexity, George Mason University embraces society's challenges as opportunities to find future solutions and bring positive change.

George Mason, the Man: Reflections from the Center for Mason Legacies

George Mason IV was the primary author of the Virginia Declaration of Rights and a vital contributor to Virginia's first state constitution, written in 1776. The principles expressed in these documents informed the language of the Declaration of Independence, many state constitutions, and the U.S. Bill of Rights. Mason was a successful Virginia planter, dedicated father, and sometimes reluctant public leader. Although he attended the 1787 Constitutional Convention, Mason refused to sign the finished document because he believed that it failed to protect the rights of citizens.

Mason preferred life far from the halls of government. He relished time at his Gunston Hall plantation, where he wrote treatises on legal issues, commercial regulations, and property matters. Although he condemned the international slave trade, he was not opposed to the institution of slavery. While he decried slavery's "ill effects . . . upon the Morals" of White Virginians, he owned over 100 children, women, and men of African descent. Putting the interests of his own family first, he bequeathed his enslaved laborers, along with vast landholdings, to his heirs. Several of the people owned by Mason resisted their bondage by running away from Gunston Hall, including a young man named Dick. Mason's principled calls for individual rights and liberties coexisted with his enslavement of Black people, reflecting a contradiction at the heart of the American founding.

In 1996, a powerful statue of George Mason presenting his Virginia Declaration of Rights was dedicated on the Fairfax Campus. In 2022, the Enslaved People of George Mason Memorial, an interactive multi-sited installation, was unveiled near this statue in the new Roger Wilkins Plaza. The memorial focuses on the ideals of democracy and freedom embodied by Mason, the people he enslaved—including Penny, a 10-year-old girl, and James, Mason's manservant—and their legacies.

Highlights of George Mason University's History

The university's formal history began in 1957 as University College, the Northern Virginia branch of the University of Virginia (UVA), offering courses in engineering and the liberal arts. It opened in a renovated elementary school in the Bailey's Crossroads area of Fairfax County with an enrollment of 17 students.

In 1958, the Town (now City) of Fairfax purchased 150 acres and donated the land to the University of Virginia for a permanent branch campus, then known as George Mason College.

Just 14 years later, George Mason University became an independent member of Virginia's system of colleges and universities when Virginia's governor signed legislation in 1972.

George Mason has achieved many milestones across the decades. Here are just a few highlights.

- 1968—First class of 52 students graduates. The George Mason University Alumni Association is founded.
- 1972—The university separates from UVA
- 1974—The Office of Admissions hires George Mason's first African American admissions officer, Andrew Evans

Historic Wins for George Mason Athletes

The men's basketball team set a new school record with 15 A-10 wins and reached the conference title game for the first time since 2009.

The women's indoor track and field team clinched this year's A-10 championship, their first since 2014.

The women's basketball team secured a first-ever A-10 Championship and earned its first-ever NCAA Tournament berth.

The George Mason Medal

The George Mason Medal is designated by the George Mason University Board of Visitors to be the university's highest honorary award.

This medal is designed to honor George Mason, the man. Those receiving the award should have a record of service to their community, state, or nation consistent with the level and quality of George Mason's public service in his own time. George Mason, a native of Northern Virginia, was never elected to public office, but he was a public leader in the cause of freedom during the Revolutionary War and the formative years of the United States of America.

The George Mason Medal is awarded from time to time at the university's annual commencement exercises with a special and distinct place reserved on the program for the presentation of the medal.

About the University Mace

George Mason University formal ceremonies begin with the entrance of the university mace, which features the university's seal highlighting freedom and learning and is carried in the procession by the lead university marshal. The tradition of the mace derives from medieval times when a bodyguard held a mace during ceremonial functions with the intention of protecting the royal or dignitary. The mace symbolizes the university's governing authority and is present only when the president and the Board of Visitors are in attendance.

*Golden Patriots are alumni who graduated 50 or more years ago (1968–75).

Alma Mater

Patriot Pride

George Mason!
George Mason, we honor you today
Our alma mater is the source of Patriot Pride
From far and near, 'round the world we come
To learn side by side.

George Mason!
Where "Freedom and Learning" is our guide;
A place where reaching for the highest is our theme
A place where we come and are welcomed home
To follow our dream.

We love our George Mason,
We're proud of the Green and Gold
Those colors stay with us;
Those colors grow with us;
Those colors keep us Patriots,
True and bold!
